

Sheril's Mexican Adventure

May 2007

Well friends, I have just completed my first Mission Adventures experience during Spring Break. It was a very challenging time but well worth it. I have learned so much and hopefully been able to add my own personal flair and experiences into the program. On top of my daily duties of contacting future teams and nightly duties of uploading all the hundreds of pictures taken throughout each day, I was able to go out with teams on a few occasions and the students always amazed me with their insight and their willingness to serve. I was constantly blessed and challenged by their faith in each other and the people of Mexico. This is why I love this place so much. This reminds me of all the missions that I was able and fortunate to participate in when I was a teenager. I am so grateful to everyone who had a hand in allowing me to go and do. I am looking forward to doing this all over again during the summer.

- ☑ That even when I get tired, I will still give my all for the Lord.
- ☑ My attitude towards those around me; that I will always have an attitude of servant hood.
- ☑ That I will always remember to do EVERYTHING as unto the Lord.
